PRESS RELEASE: 2015

Free Solar Charging Station New for 2015 Empire Farm Days

Seneca Falls, NY. Anyone who needs to recharge a cell phone, laptop or tablet will be able to plug into a free solar charging station offered by Sustainable Energy Developments at the August 11-13, 2015 Empire Farm Days.

The Ontario, NY-based Sustainable Energy Developments has been part of the largest outdoor agricultural trade show in the Northeastern U.S. for the past six years with an exhibit raising awareness about solar and wind energy options for powering farms, homes, and businesses.

“People will be able to plug in to the charging station, see a working solar panel on our exhibit trailer, and view a model wind turbine at our Empire Farm Days display. Sustainable Energy Developments staff will be answering questions and letting farmers know that investing in wind or solar energy can reduce year-end tax liability and the cost of power into the future,” says Meaghann Schulte, Sustainable Energy Developments Director of Director of Marketing and Public Relations.

The charging unit at Empire Farm Days will have 26 plug-ins.

Empire Farm Days is the Northeast’s largest outdoor farm show, held on 300 acres at the Rodman Lott & Son Farms in Seneca Falls, N.Y. Parking is $10 car. Find a full schedule of activities and more information for the August 11-13, 2015 show at www.empirefarmdays.com.
